

GOVERNMENT'S AGENTS TAKE HAND IN CASE

Working Secretly To Find Kidnapers Of Baby Lindbergh

BULLETIN
Norfolk, Va., Apr. 15 —(AP)—Three Norfolk negotiations for the return of Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr. announced through the Very Rev. H. Dobson-Peacock, that information furnished them indicated that the kidnaped child is alive and well.

Washington, Apr. 15 —(AP)—The Federal government has been moving secretly to invoke against the kidnapers of the infant Lindbergh, the same laws that put Al Capone behind the bars.

As revealed today by the Evening Star, the government will waive its technical right to demand a tax share of the $50,000 ransom paid the kidnapers.

But Internal Revenue agents have been in touch with Charles A. Lindbergh at Hopedale, N. J., for some time.

They were kept advised of the negotiations centering about Dr. John F. Condon, and knew of the final arrangements for the ransom payment on April 2.

At the request of Lindbergh, they remained away from the scene of the actual transaction.

The Treasury's activities in the case have been known to the Star for several weeks, but publication was withheld in a desire not to embarrass the government or Lindbergh.

WORKING SECRETLY
Hopedale, N. J., Apr. 15 —(AP)—The Lindbergh baby hunt developed today into a search for a swindle-proof scheme to get Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., back.

Working secretly again, negotiators did not overlook the possibility that a second ransom attempt might lead to a repetition of the $50,000 hoax in which Col. Lindbergh was mulcted without getting the kidnaped infant.

The Colonel, it was learned, is considering a plan whereby a committee would pass on any further negotiations. The committee probably would comprise the aviator, Col. Henry Breckinridge, his attorney, Gov. A. Harry Moore of New Jersey, Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City and others.

Col. Lindbergh and his wife appeared last night for secrecy in the attempts to deal with the kidnap gang. In Norfolk, Va., two negotiators who have been in close touch with Lindbergh for days, returned home after a prolonged absence with a non-committal statement.

Dr. John F. Condon—the "Jafie" who, as Lindbergh's attorney, arranged the recent $50,000 payment, made several trips from his Bronx home yesterday, and said the kidnapers were an extremely shrewd band of criminals.

Spring Valley Bank Robbed This Morn

Spring Valley, Ill., Apr. 15 —(AP)—Five gunmen held up the Spring Valley City bank today and fled with $5,000 in currency after slugging Peter Hollerick, the cashier, because he refused to open the vault.

During the robbery Hollerick, four employees and a customer were forced to lie on the floor face downward while the bandits, failing to open the vault themselves, scooped up the money from the tellers' cages.

Sheriff Fred Richardson and State Officers Frank Tyne, Fred Jacobs and Vic Westendorf, armed with high powered rifles and saved off shot guns, set out immediately upon receipt of word of the robbery here and patrolled the roads in the neighborhood of Sublette.

City police meanwhile kept careful check on all cars entering Dixon on state highway, route 89.

At noon it was reported here that the bank bandits' car passed through the village of Arlington coming to LaMoille, but it is believed to have taken a side road, thus escaping posses of county and state highway officers who guarded all of the state highways.

News of the hold-up was received here within a very few minutes after the bandits made their escape.

FEDERAL COURT HEARS MIDWEST PLEA THIS MORN

Receivers For Huge Holding Company To Be Named

Chicago, April 15 (AP)—Samuel Insull, Edward N. Hurley and Charles A. McCulloch were recommended today as receivers for the $3,000,000,000 Middle West Utilities Company.

Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley continued the receivership hearing, saying he would investigate personally the records of the three men and make his appointments later in the day.

The recommendation was made by Attorney Thurlow G. Essington counsel for the Lincoln Printing Company which instituted the equity proceedings late yesterday.

Insull is Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Middle West Utilities Company. Asked by the court why he recommended Insull's appointment, Attorney Essington replied "because he is the outstanding utility operator of the country and his knowledge and familiarity of the affairs of the company are absolutely necessary."

Essington began the hearing by reading from the bill of complaint charging that the company is unable to meet its obligations because of the greatly depreciated value of the securities it holds. The filing of the equity petition was the only possible constructive relief for both stockholders and creditors of the company as well as the company itself, the attorney argued, because the appointment of receivers would prevent the filing of a multiplicity of suits and the disintegration of the company.

Company Consents
Attorney William L. Latimer, counsel for the Middle West Utilities Company, filed a brief answer admitting the allegations in the bill of complaint and consenting to the appointment of a receiver.

Another attorney, W. A. Leopold, said he represented the holder of 100 shares of stock and objected to the appointment of a receiver. He said the move was being made on behalf of a few banks "who are trying to freeze out the small stockholders."

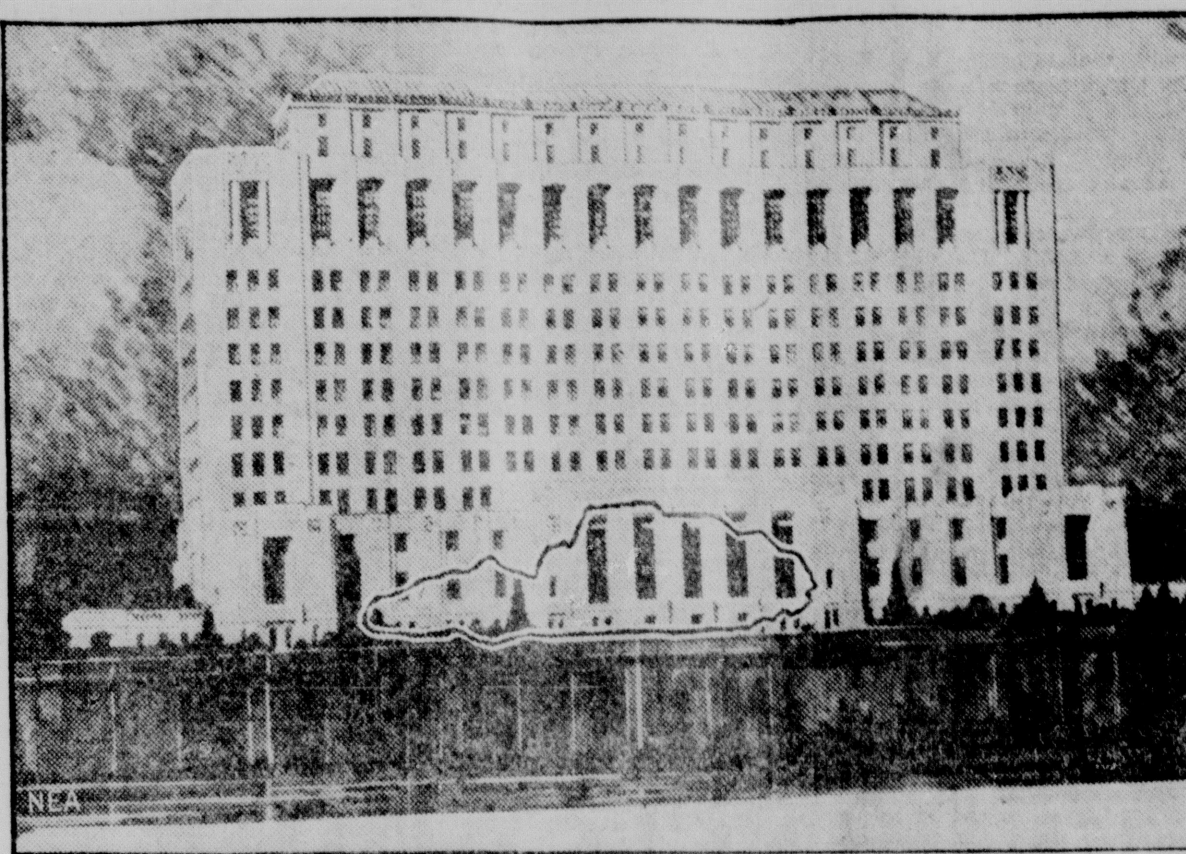

Judge Lindley answered, "but suppose the court refused the prayer of the bill? Would not there be a judgement by the creditor as well as others and would there not result chaos and turmoil to the detriment of everyone, including your client? The bill of complaint averts that the cash resources of the company have been exhausted and the court must take judicial notice of the general depression and depreciation of securities."

Judge Lindley said he could see why one of the receivers should be an officer of the company "who will be helpful in its operations and reorganization."

Will Name Receivers
"I will fill in the names of the receivers in the blank provided in the order," Judge Lindley said after overruling Leopold's objections. "Meanwhile there will be the usual restraining order enjoining creditors from instituting judgment suits."

Ohio State Office Building Bombed

Seven were killed and $1,200,000 damage was done when an explosion of mysterious origin ripped out the side and wrecked a large portion of the interior Ohio's new state office building at Columbus. Above is a general view of the huge structure with an outline marking portion blown out by blast. The structure is located on the east bank of the Scioto river about two blocks from the state capitol. Construction was nearly completed, at a cost of $6,500,000, and the building would have been occupied this summer.

HOME BUILDERS' EXHIBIT DRAWS MUCH INTEREST

Local Products Featured In Show At Home Lumber Co.

Home builders of Dixon and vicinity are to be treated to an innovation Saturday at the Dixon Home Lumber Company's offices on First street, in the form of a home builders' exhibit, which for several weeks has been in the making by Dement and Harry Schuler and associate contractors. The plan is original and most interesting and the general public has been invited to visit the display tomorrow and on future dates.

One entire room has been neatly arranged so as to best display the latest and most modern methods of home construction, interior and exterior. It is to be continued for several days for the convenience of home builders and contractors who are at liberty to visit the display at any time during the day or evening.

Home manufactured and home sold building products are being specialized, throughout. The interior wall finishes are of Kenite, a product new on the market, which is manufactured from water-proof cement, a product of the local Medusa Cement Company plant. Creosote-treated cedar shingles for exterior use; Long Bell oak flooring in panels showing the different grades and styles are most attractive. Closets, a new development of interior home construction is being featured.

New Wall Finish
Knotted pine, a new wall finish, having the appearance of natural wood 200 years old under a new chemical treatment, copied from a dwelling in Duxbury, Mass., is one of the most attractive features.

Taken from this same and not home is the natural plank flooring held in place with walnut pins. In this completely furnished compartment and adding to its luxurious appearance, are furnishings consisting of an ancient rosewood melodeon, Windsor chairs, and many other antiques, both in furnishings and draperies over the windows.

In the well arranged display window is a modern miniature home built to scale, with garage, drives, rock garden, pool, bird baths, arbors, shrubs and hedges, which is the handiwork of Harry Whippleman of this city, who spent many weeks in its construction. The buildings are electric lighted and modern in every respect to copper spouting. The exterior is finished in the various shades and patterns of outside finishing.

A modern breakfast nook appeals to the eye of the prospective home builder or the home owner who contemplates repairs, as does the many different outdoor furnishings and trellises which enhance the beauty of every yard and garden. All of the exhibits are illuminated with a special system of flood lighting, making them as effective and appealing at night as in the daylight. A complete library of building plans, specifications and drawings are available at all times both to contractors and home builders.

Devine Likely Minority Leader Next Legislature

In the fine majority given by the voters of the Thirty-Fifth district at Tuesday's primary election, which nominated Representative John P. With the resignation of Michael L. Igoe of Chicago, present minority leader in the house, Representative Devine is reported to be the choice to succeed that important post.

FOREIGN TRADE OF STATES LED WORLD IN 1931

Illinois Fifth In Value of Goods Sold Abroad

Washington, Apr. 15 —(AP)—Secretary Lamont said today the United States, instead of having lost any of its foreign trade prestige in 1931, led the world in exports during that year of economic stringency.

The Secretary made the statement in announcing a Commerce Department tabulation of 1931 exports by states, showing that only seven states and the District of Columbia exported less than $1,000,000 of goods.

He said every state in the union had a vital interest in the maintenance of foreign trade and that a payroll of a billion and a half dollars to 1,400,000 workers depended upon it.

"Even in a year of profound depression and drastic price declines such as 1931," Lamont said, "the value of our domestic exports amounted to $2,377,981,786, to which total every state and territory contributed its share. Only seven states had exports valued at less than $1,000,000, while thirty exported merchandise to a value of $10,000,000 or more and 12 of the latter did an overseas business of more than $60,000,000 each."

The tabulation issued by the Department showed that New York led in exports with a total value of $426,230,960; Texas was second with $334,370,164; California third with $213,740,582; Pennsylvania fourth with $180,233,538; Illinois fifth with $131,008,291. New Jersey sixth with $122,251,968; and Ohio seventh with $106,204,818.

More Ladders For Fire Dept. Urged

The Illinois Fire Prevention association meeting held at the Elks club yesterday afternoon drew a large and attentive gathering, about 100 being present at the luncheon at noon, which was followed by an address by E. E. Vernon. A city wide inspection was conducted during the day and representatives of the association addressed the pupils of the city grade and country schools on the subject of fire prevention.

Rev. A. B. Whitcomb pronounced the invocation at the opening of the meeting at the Elks club house at noon, which was presided over by Robert L. Warner, Exalted Ruler of the lodge. Mrs. Charles Bishop and Miss Eleanor Hennessy furnished a fine program of piano and violin numbers during the luncheon. The program following was strictly an educational one, dealing with the prevention of fire hazards, first in the home and in the business houses.

In his talk, Mr. Vernon recommended additional ladder equipment for the local fire department. He stated that one-third of the fatalities from fire were traceable to burns received in homes. Eight of ten persons died by starting fires with kerosene; $480,000,000 represented the fire loss in the United States last year; 43 per cent of the fires among manufacturing establishments were never rebuilt, adding materially to the unemployment situation; fire insurance is conducted on the basis of credit and all cities were urged to change their building codes each year to meet new conditions arising, were high points stressed in the address. Ashtrays in basements and the use of oils in starting fires were said to be the chief causes of fires in homes.

STATE HOSPITAL WAS SCENE FINE MEET OF DOCTORS

Over 400 Physicians And Dentists Profit By Meeting

The big joint meeting of the Lee County Medical Society and the Whiteside-Lee County Dental Society which was held at the Dixon state hospital last evening was probably the largest county meeting of professional men that has ever been held in the middle west, for it was attended by over 425 guests. This great meeting has come to be an annual affair, for Dr. Warren G. Murray, managing officer of the hospital, extends an invitation each year to the professional men to conduct their meeting at the state institution and he and his staff put a great deal of time and effort to insure its success. This year eleven hundred invitations were sent out, covering the physicians and dentists in northern Illinois, eastern Iowa and southern Wisconsin. Many of the guests came early in the afternoon in order to visit this interesting institution and they were conducted through it by the staff members. At 6 P. M. the guests began to assemble in the big auditorium where they were entertained by a band concert.

Had Fine Banquet
Jack Watters, the chef at the hospital, planned, prepared and directed the serving of a delicious banquet, and this time he exceeded all previous efforts. The doctors talk about these banquets at all subsequent meetings for months afterward. The tables were tastefully decorated and the arrangements were made to seat 410 and every table was filled. This meal was served by about forty young ladies in a most efficient manner and the last course, which consisted of boxes of candy for the ladies and cigars for the gentlemen, ended a meal that made every visitor praise the work of those who had prepared and served it.

Following the banquet, Dr. A. F. Moore opened the meeting and introduced Dr. Murray who was the host of this big group of doctors and nurses. Dr. Gordon F. New of the Mayo clinic was introduced and gave a most interesting and instructive talk on "The Development in Reconstructive Surgery of the Face and Neck." This talk was illustrated by lantern slides shown on a very large screen by a new type of lantern operated by J. A. Daunter. These pictures, illustrating the work done in reconstructing noses, ears and mouths which had been damaged or destroyed by dreadful accidents, as well as some cases of congenital malformations, were amazing, and showed what wonderful strides have been made in this branch of surgery. Dr. Murray took charge of the meeting and after assuring the guests of his pleasure in being able to entertain such a large number of visitors from all over this part of the country, introduced a number of his staff members who presented a most interesting clinic.

Local Cases Shown
Dr. H. E. Marselus, assistant superintendent, talked on the "present legal status of encephalitis cases." These are cases of the so-called sleeping sickness which often follow severe cases of influenza and such cases are now committed, by the courts, to the Dixon state hospital. Dr. J. P. Krawnski described and demonstrated a rare and very interesting case of what is known as "Frohlich's Syndrome." Dr. C. F. Powell described and showed six cases of "Mongolism" which was a colored boy. He called attention to the characteristic shape of the head. In these cases which rarely are seen outside such institutions, Dr. A. Tarnavsky showed three very rare cases, one a skin case with a peculiar eruption and deformation of the hands and feet and another case whose symptoms, including total blindness was due to a tumor in the back part of the brain. Dr. A. J. Graff briefly exhibited two very interesting cases of "Cretinism" which is primarily due to a deficiency of the thyroid gland from birth. These cases are very common in parts of Switzerland and New Zealand but are not common in this part of the world.

Chicago Specialist
Dr. W. J. Palmer of Sterling asked Dr. Z. W. Moss who is a personal friend and former colleague during their war service to introduce Dr. William H. G. Logan of Chicago, who was the principal speaker of the evening. Dr. Logan's subject was "The Diagnosis of Treatment of the More Common Lesions and Abnormalities of the Face, Mouth and Jaws, that are of Interest to the Members of the Dental and Medical Professions." His talk was entirely illustrated by some remarkably fine pictures, beginning with infected teeth, then cancer of the tongue and lips and finally the many abnormalities such as hare lip and cleft palate. Dr. Logan has been lecturing throughout this country and Europe for many years and he has an exceptionally clever manner of illustrating the work that has been done by both the medical and dental professions in his chosen line of work, that of corrective surgery.

Dr. C. L. Daniels of Aurora, Ill., superintendent of the dental clinics of the Illinois state institutions, gave a very interesting description of the work being done at the various state institutions to combat "Vincent's Angina," commonly known as trench mouth.

DIXON HIGH HAS BEEN ACCREDITED BY LEADING ASSN.

Requirements Of North Central Assn. Met By Local School

Principal A. H. Lancaster of the Dixon high school today received notice to the effect that the local school has been accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools for the year ending March 17, 1933. Signification of the term of accreditation of the local school authorities have been advised that it is the established policy of the Association to prepare each year a new list of approved secondary schools accorded this honor and that no school is accredited by the North Central Association for a period longer than one year.

Before any school can be considered for accreditation by the North Central Association it must be on the highest list of schools approved and accredited by the school authorities of the state. In addition it must meet the high standards which the Association maintains with respect to school building and its equipment, the school library, laboratories, and instruction in equipment and apparatus, school records, the requirements for graduation, instruction and spirit, salaries of teachers and the training and preparation of teachers, the teaching load, pupil loads, the school's program with reference to physical education and to its athletic relationship with other high schools as determined by the state athletic association.

Is Largest Agency
The North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools is an accrediting agency comprising twenty states and is the largest regional accrediting agency in the United States. The object of the association is to establish closer relations between the secondary schools and the institutions of higher education within the North Central states and in such other territory as the North Central Association may recognize. All decisions of the association bearing on the policies and management of secondary schools and institutions of higher education are understood to be advisory in their character. The accrediting of schools by the North Central Association is a co-operative undertaking. Membership in this association is purely voluntary. It must be the desire of the local authorities of a high school to have the school accredited by the Association.

Advantages that high schools realize as a result of being accredited by the North Central Association can be summarized as follows:

Some Advantages
1. The graduates of an accredited high school are privileged to enter institutions of higher education within the North Central states without entrance examinations, provided that they have credits in the high school subjects required by the college or university for admission. Since other accrediting agencies recognize the schools accredited by the North Central Association, this privilege of entering institutions of higher education without examination is extended practically throughout the United States.

2. The graduates of accredited high schools have the assurance that their high school diplomas will be acceptable to state boards, having to do with the granting of certificates for the various professions of medicine, dentistry, law, etc. In states requiring graduation from approved high schools as a prerequisite to the obtaining of a teaching certificate, the graduates

BELIEVE BOMB WRECKED OHIO STATE'S BLDG.

Theft Of Explosives Leads To Theory By Officials

Columbus, O., April 15 —(AP)—The body of the eighth victim of the state office building explosion was recovered from the debris-strewn basement late today. The victim was Robert Pfeifferle, of Columbus, a carpenter. Firemen, searching the ruins, found the body under tons of marble, concrete and plaster.

BULLETIN
Columbus, O., April 15 —(AP)—The theory that a bomb explosion was responsible for the loss of seven lives, injuries to more than two score, and heavy damage to Ohio's new state office building, was upmost in the minds of state, county and city officials as they launched investigations into the disaster today.

After an inspection of the explosion-form building, Harry Hake, the architect, of Cincinnati, said the damage would run over $1,000,000.

Authorities were investigating the theft of 300 pounds of "high powered" dynamite from a powder company near London, Ohio, last week, in the belief it might have been used to bomb the $6,000,000 structure, which was in the final stages of construction. The dynamite, the owners said, contained 16 quarts of T. N. T. to 100 pounds—a total of 48 quarts of T. N. T. which could have been extracted from the sticks.

Death List of Seven
Meanwhile the death list was increased to seven today when William Stevenson, 42, Columbus, died of a skull fracture.

Governor George White intimated he felt a high explosive was used in an effort to destroy the structure when, after naming an official investigating committee he summoned explosive experts.

With one or two exceptions, authorities believed the blast was the outcome of a plot to bomb the structure. One of the exceptions was Mayor Henry Wexley of Columbus, who held to the belief that it was caused by a collection of gas.

The explosion, late yesterday, demolished the central interior portion of the building from the basement to the fifth floor, and tore away most of one of its sides.

Search In Ruins
Workmen dug into the tons of debris today, searching for additional dead or injured.

At first the explosion was laid to accumulated sewer gas in the basement. Later, however, officials, including T. S. Brindle, State Superintendent of Public Works, theorized high explosives were the cause, and that it was an act of sabotage.

Brindle's theory was strengthened by a statement from H. E. Nold, head of the Department of Mines at Ohio State University, that "it would have been impossible for enough gas to collect in the building without being detected."

Investigators also pointed out that the focal point of the explosion appeared to have been immediately beneath a room occupied by Charles Martin, Superintendent of Construction for the architect. Martin's duties included the handling of labor disputes. There were 126 men at work when the explosion occurred.

Think State Protected
State officials said they believed the state was protected by a $3,000,000 bond given by the Trust Construction Company of Cincinnati, general contractors, and by a $400,000 insurance policy of the city.

As officials prepared to press an investigation, Governor White received a telegram from William Green, President of the American Federation of Labor and member of the State Office Building Commission.

Green said he was "greatly distressed and terribly shocked" at news of the "awful explosion." He added: "I respectfully urge that an immediate thorough and complete investigation of the accident be instituted and carried on by the properly constituted authorities."

During construction, which consumed almost two years labor fights among workers who questioned the right of various building trade organizations to do various jobs were frequent.

STILL EIGHT LEFT

Denver, Colo. —A cat was struck by an automobile on 14th and Broadway. Police received a call to go and shoot the feline and put it out of its misery. Policemen McCasland and Thompson arrived on the scene of the accident to find the cat gone. Having lost one of its nine lives, it apparently took possession of another and calmly went about its business of scrounging on backyard fences.

and with the aid of Dr. H. C. Hart of the Dixon state hospital, he demonstrated a number of these interesting cases and gave the visiting doctors a complete description of the method of treatment used.
The meeting adjourned at 11 P. M. with a rising vote of thanks to Dr. Murray and his staff and to the speakers of the evening for having furnished what was, without doubt, the most interesting meeting that has ever been held in this part of the state.

ates of schools accredited by the North Central Association meet the requirements of such a law.
3. A high school approved by the North Central Association must maintain high standards and consequently the community is assured of a program of modern high school education.
4. The examination of the school at regular intervals by inspectors and supervisors, serves to stimulate progress and prevent the development of questionable practices and tendencies.
5. High schools accredited by the North Central Association enjoy a greater prestige in the surrounding country and therefore find it easier to attract non-resident pupils.
6. The patrons have more confidence in, and are generally more willing to support, an accredited high school.

And from the 72-year-old utility magnate, who rose from immigrant secretary to Thomas Edison to control of billions, came an emphatic statement giving assurance that his utility operating companies, which are subsidiaries of the Middle West, were in no way affected by the proposed receivership.
He placed responsibility for the action on economic conditions which "make it impossible to work about $22,000,000 in well secured oil plan for the payment of bank loans, slightly over $7,000,000 in partially secured loans and meeting of $10,000,000 in notes on June 1."

Legion Auxiliary Pleasant Meeting

The American Legion Auxiliary held a very interesting meeting in Legion Hall Wednesday afternoon. Before going to the hall, however, the members attended the funeral of Mrs. Deming of Denver, Colo., which was held at the Preston's Chapel at 2 o'clock. Mrs. Deming's daughter, Mrs. Ethel Preston, and granddaughter, Mary Jane Preston, are members of Dixon unit, American Legion Auxiliary. The members of Dixon Unit deeply sympathize with them in their bereavement.
The members were very much pleased to greet Mrs. Elizabeth Chase, of Bluffton, Ind., who is visiting relatives in Dixon, and attended the meeting Wednesday.
Bulletins from the district director were read. The thirteenth district convention will be held on June 11, at Savannah. Very encouraging letters were read from Senators J. Ham Lewis and Otis F. Glenn, in regard to the Widow's and Orphan's bill. This bill, if passed, will provide compensation for the widows and orphan of ex-service men, and is now before the Senate.
The ladies voted to send a cash donation to the Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphan's School at Normal, Ill. A new cottage has just been completed and the Auxiliary is providing curtains and drapes for the windows.
A letter was read from Louise W. Williams, National President, in regard to the establishment of a school for the children of members of the American Legion who live in Paris. A school room has been set aside in Pershing Hall, the American Legion World War Memorial. Approximately 1,000 members of the American Legion reside in Paris, at least seventy-five per cent of these men are married and many have children. Few have sufficient means to send their children to private schools and unless they are provided for, they will be deprived of the opportunity of learning the English language, American History and the subjects every American citizen wants his child taught. The school will be modern in every respect, fully equipped and manned by competent teachers.
The financial support of this project was approved by the Resolutions Committee at the National convention in Detroit, and has received overwhelming endorsement from all Legion Posts and Auxiliary Units. Dixon unit voted to appropriate a substantial contribution for this school, and in recognition of this contribution, the name of Dixon Unit No. 12, and all other units contributing, will be engrossed on parchment and kept throughout generations in Pershing Hall. A beautiful dedicatory tablet will be erected in the school, showing that it is the gift of the American Legion Auxiliary.
Pershing Hall will be officially opened to the public by National Commander, Henry L. Stevens, Jr., the third week in June.

Bloomington Man Fugitive From Pen
Joliet, Ill., April 15—(AP)—George Lane, a former Bloomington fireman convicted of robbery, escaped from the state penitentiary today while a member of a construction gang working on one of the outside walls.
Lane, who had served one year of his sentence of one year to life imprisonment, was assigned to the outside detail as a trusty. He dashed to freedom at 8 o'clock.
A few hours later the search for him concentrated on an abandoned stone quarry at Lemont, Ill.
Police in neighboring counties were notified and the following description broadcast: 38 years old, five feet seven inches tall, weight 178 pounds, chestnut colored hair but slightly bald, mole on right cheek.

LITTLE SCHOOL MA'AM
PEAK of your queens and empresses,
Of other ladies royal
Not one of them has half
The power
Or subjects half so loyal
As she, the little school
ma'am
Who trips along the way
To take the chair she makes a throne.
At nine o'clock each day.

Her rule is ever gentle,
Her tones are low and sweet,
She is very trim and tidy
From her head unto her feet
And it matters very little
If her eyes be brown or blue
They simply read your inmost
heart.
When e'er she looks at you

The children bring he presents,
Red apples, flowers galore,
For all the merry girls and boys
This queen of theirs adore—
The darling little school ma'am
Who reigns without a peer.
In a hundred thousand class
rooms
This gayly flying year.

—Margaret E. Sangster.

Harris Is Very Well Recommended

On Thursday evening, April 21st, the Philharmonic Society will sponsor a concert to be given by Tomford Harris, a young pianist who has recently been winning at home and abroad. He is a top rank artist and no doubt there will be a large audience in St. Paul's Lutheran church at 8 o'clock to hear his concert.

"Hat in hand to a remarkably endowed young pianist, 'discovered' at the Civic Theater, Tomford Harris, an American, a Chicagoan, we are proud to say, whose gifts have been recognized abroad and, who, I believe, is more than half way up the road to fame. I can pay no greater compliment than this, even the prospect of seeing La Argentina could not indemnify me for losing part of his program.

But I heard his playing in the Bach-Rummel choral prelude, 'Mortify Us,' and the toccata and fugue transcribed from the organ by Busoni, the Brahms variations and some Chopin preludes. The connoisseurs present acclaimed him as he deserves. He is an unusual personality, his temperament, guided by dignity and artistic refinement, his technique unsalably right, his ideals those of the musician-aristocrat."—Chicago American, Nov. 17, 1930 (Herman Davies).

Birthday Surprise For Mrs. Sawyer

Thursday Mrs. Eretta Sawyer celebrated a birthday, and last evening her children, grand children and great grand children surprised her. They arrived with well filled baskets and the evening was spent with cards, and reminiscences, everyone having a merry time.

A delicious luncheon was served including sandwiches, pickles, coffee, and two huge angel food cakes, one decorated in pink and one in blue, were served. At a late hour the guests departed, wishing Mrs. Sawyer many more happy birthdays and leaving her a number of nice tokens in memory of the day.

Much Interest Continues Young People's Conference

Last night the Young People's Conference, connected with the Grady Cantrell Revival Meetings met as usual at the Christian church at 6:45. The meeting opened with conference songs followed by all joining in the Lord's Prayer.

Much is planned for the next week. Tonight, Friday evening, the Serenade will be held following the tabernacle service. Practice for the Serenade will take place at regular conference service and all who later in the evening are requested to be sure and be at the conference meeting.

Next Tuesday the Reds will have charge of the Conference meeting and the Blues will have the same privilege Thursday evening. Sunday evening at 6:00, the vesper services will be held. The speakers will be announced later.

Dick Choate, the director of the conference, talked Thursday evening on the subject of "Amusements." Various members told what they thought about questions which were brought up.

Mr. Choate first brought up the question so many make, "I can do anything I want to. I have the right to my own opinions." He stated in regard to this that in the idea of things belonging to the church we have no right.

The next question considered was whether a Christian ought to dance, smoke, etc. Some suggested, "Let your conscience be your guide." It was discussed pro and con. Finally it was decided that the "Conscience is a good guide as long as it is guided by Christ."

The question of majority rule or "the majority are doing it" was discussed. Dick quoted, "The world has been made by men who are not afraid to stand up for what they think." It takes a man to stand up for what he believes is right.

The "dance" question was introduced. "How would you feel if Christ would come in with you, was the thought brought to the attention. Mr. Choate told of playing at cabarets and seeing the disgusting and low and lowering elements which attended them. He said most all who have played at such places and expressed opinion states that seeing the life in their amusement places is enough to turn anyone against dances.

He closed the discussion by repeating in part Rom. 14:1, "It is good neither to eat flesh, nor to drink wine, nor anything whereof thy brother stumbleth, or is offended, or is made weak." and Gal. 6:17, "Whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap."

LITTLE SCHOOL MA'AM
PEAK of your queens and empresses,
Of other ladies royal
Not one of them has half
The power
Or subjects half so loyal
As she, the little school
ma'am
Who trips along the way
To take the chair she makes
a throne.
At nine o'clock each day.

Her rule is ever gentle,
Her tones are low and sweet,
She is very trim and tidy
From her head unto her feet
And it matters very little
If her eyes be brown or blue
They simply read your inmost
heart.
When e'er she looks at you

The children bring he presents,
Red apples, flowers galore,
For all the merry girls and boys
This queen of theirs adore—
The darling little school ma'am
Who reigns without a peer.
In a hundred thousand class
rooms
This gayly flying year.

Harris Is Very Well Recommended

On Thursday evening, April 21st, the Philharmonic Society will sponsor a concert to be given by Tomford Harris, a young pianist who has recently been winning at home and abroad. He is a top rank artist and no doubt there will be a large audience in St. Paul's Lutheran church at 8 o'clock to hear his concert.

"Hat in hand to a remarkably endowed young pianist, 'discovered' at the Civic Theater, Tomford Harris, an American, a Chicagoan, we are proud to say, whose gifts have been recognized abroad and, who, I believe, is more than half way up the road to fame. I can pay no greater compliment than this, even the prospect of seeing La Argentina could not indemnify me for losing part of his program.

But I heard his playing in the Bach-Rummel choral prelude, 'Mortify Us,' and the toccata and fugue transcribed from the organ by Busoni, the Brahms variations and some Chopin preludes. The connoisseurs present acclaimed him as he deserves. He is an unusual personality, his temperament, guided by dignity and artistic refinement, his technique unsalably right, his ideals those of the musician-aristocrat."—Chicago American, Nov. 17, 1930 (Herman Davies).

FOR VICTORY THIS FALL.

The Republican voters in Lee County in giving a substantial majority to former Governor Len Small have shown an appreciation of the benefits given to this territory by Len Small when he was in the executive chair and the result of the election is highly gratifying to The Evening Telegraph. Lee County will find, when Small is governor of Illinois again, that he will appreciate the fine support given him here. The Telegraph is confident that the people of Illinois will elect him at the November election.

All of the Evening Telegraph's recommendations on the Republican ticket were enthusiastically supported in this county.

THE HUNTER FOR GOLD.

The papers didn't give very much space to the death of John E. Lee, the Montana prospector who was known in the west for decades as "Golden Jack." They just told us enough about the man to whet our appetites and make us wish we could know a little more.

"Golden Jack" was, by profession, a seeker for gold; and if there is an odder or more attractive job on earth, it is hard to think just what it may be. He had spent most of his life tramping over the western ranges and the fortune he sought always eluded him; but even without being known the man it is not hard to guess that he had no regrets and that he would have followed the same course if he had been given a chance to start all over again.

For that is the attitude the typical gold-hunter always has; and it is because we all have a dim realization of the advantages which such philosophy offers that we usually feel a sneaking bit of envy of when we read about such chaps.

The gold-seeker is out for money, of course, and he always has, shinning ahead of him somewhere, a lofty vision of great riches; but he generally knows in his heart that that vision is never going to be realized, and the knowledge doesn't disconcert him in the least. The hunt itself is satisfying enough; and there is where he has the bulge on the rest of us.

For we're all after hidden treasure, in one way or another. We all chase a vision and we put up with monotony and self-denial and so on for year after year with the notion that the reward we're after will make it all up to us, once we get it. But usually we never get it at all, and in the end all we have is the memory of the hunt for it.

And that, we're often forced to admit, isn't enough. Hunting for real gold on western mountains is one thing, and plugging away at a job in a city office or factory is something else again. The prospector wins even when he loses. The rest of us stake everything on the gamble for material success, and if we don't get it we've little else to fall back on.

KID GLOVES FOR GANGSTERS?

Jack Guzik was Al Capone's right-hand man in the Chicago rackets for a long time. Recently the federal government laid him by the heels because he failed to pay any income tax, and the other day he was shipped off to Leavenworth penitentiary to serve a five-year sentence.

But he didn't go with the rest of the prisoners. Instead he got permission to pay his own expenses and the expenses of the federal guards who had him in custody; so he rode in another car, in real style, and wasn't soiled by contact with the lesser thugs and confidence men who were going to prison.

This, somehow, is apt to give the ordinary citizen an acute pain. Why should this man have been permitted extra privileges, even if he was able to pay for them himself? Are these Chicago gangsters such influential people that they must be handled with kid gloves even after they have been sentenced to prison?

TRADE WITH RUSSIA.

Col. Hugh L. Cooper, famous American engineer and president of the American-Russian Chamber of Commerce, declared in a recent interview that Soviet Russia is potentially the biggest market in the world for American exporters.

In the last eight years, he said, Russia has bought $2,500,000,000 worth of goods from the outside world, and has paid the bill without delay and without the loss of one cent. In the not-distant future Russia's imports can be expected to total at least $2,000,000,000 a year. Furthermore, Russia is eager to have American guidance in development of his national resources, and is very favorably impressed with American goods.

You might keep points in mind the next time some purblind "patriot" insists that we put an embargo on imports of goods from Russia. A market that could make us completely forget the depression is waiting for us there—unless we spoil it by idiotic trade restrictions.

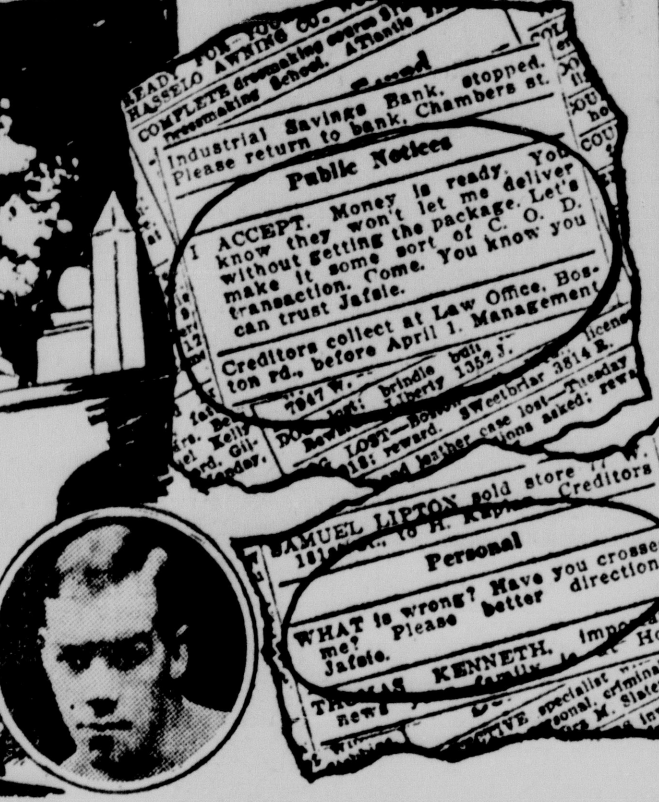

The order dismissing the charges against me is just what I expected. I regard it as a vindication. I didn't do anything I wouldn't do again.—Thomas M. Farley, ex-sheriff of New York.

Between you and me and the gatepost, I hate publicity.—Aimee Semple McPherson, evangelist.

HOW LINDBERGH'S "JAFSIE" MET KIDNAPERS IN $50,000 PAYOFF

Dr. John F. Condon, 72, Fordham College lecturer, identified as the mysterious "Jafsie" advertiser and the man who paid over the $50,000 cash to men identified as kidnapers of the Lindbergh baby, is shown at left together with his home in the Bronx. After a series of advertisements, he was summoned by taxi one night to a Yonkers cemetery. There a man vaulted the cemetery wall, sat beside Dr. Condon on a bench and discussed the Lindbergh case, making terms for the baby's return. After advertisement at top of those shown above was published, Dr. Condon, in an auto driven by Al Reich, former heavyweight white hope (shown in inset), met the kidnapers in a secluded spot in the Bronx where he gave them the money while Colonel Lindbergh waited in another car a block away. The baby was to be returned in a few days. When nothing happened the final "Jafsie" advertisement shown above was published and the next day thereafter Lindbergh disclosed he believed he had been double-crossed, although confident he had contacted the kidnapers and hopeful that the baby still would be returned. Dr. Condon continued to seek new contact.

Dime-a-Dance Girl and Her Million-Heir
"Catch" Win the First Lap of Life's RaceBoth Buckle Down To Work Though Wealth
Looms

BY GENE COHN

NEA Service Writer
New York—Romaine Fleming, attractive "10-cents-a-dance" hostess, and Allan Carlisle, her shy, collegiate millionaire husband, have won the first sprint in the Young Love versus Life handicap.

Romaine, long accustomed to taking care of herself, stepped out and found herself a job while the honeymoon was still in its first quarter. Her friend Peggy Fears, actress-producer, gave Romaine a bit in her show.

Allan also has gone to work. His decision required more time and consideration. His Harvard course still had a year to run when his persistent courtship resulted in a romantic alliance.

Living Simply
"I had not studied for any profession," he apologized boyishly. "Wish I had, now. I'd just taken a general course. I woke up to find that I could have used a better background for business."

So his first job is with a large insurance firm. He starts as a salesman. A few days of lining up prospects left him groping, but enthusiastic. Many of his college fellows, look like "sure things" to him.

The Carlises are living and intend to live simply. Their apartment is a most modest one in Greenwich Village. The "millionaire" is well schooled in making and mending her own clothes, if necessary. A two-burner kitchenette gas plate is also a familiar item to her.

Young Carlisle, though expected to inherit some $3,000,000 one of these days, appears to be on a conservative college allowance. It is a matter he will not discuss.

His earliest upsets, concerns and handicaps grew out of Broadway's typical exploitation of a "Cinderella marriage." He found his name and that of his bride "four-sheared" most prominently.

The Broadway rumors had it that members of his family were disturbed by the blatant ballyhoo and there had been councils of the clan.

Still Dancing
The honeymoon routine has included repeated visits to the "Olympic Dance Palace" from which Romaine graduated into matrimony. The romantic legend has persisted that "Cinderella" usually appear at ringside seats in the swankiest spots.

But Romaine returns to her old haunts. Allan also meets his old pals there. "The place and these people were all parts of our romance," explains the bride. "It's like going home."

After all, the new Mrs. Carlisle had danced as a posita for several years. Carlisle, with fellow collegians from Harvard and Princeton, would drop in for dancing diversion while week-endings in New York. He meets his college fellows and she dances about with friends or chats with the other girls.

More Romances Due
Two of them are, at the moment, in the throes of romance expected to end soon in wedlock. One of them is a member of a trio with whom Romaine once shared quarters.

Still another, Miss Violet Peck, dark and slender, collect from studies art and writing during the daytime. She has one friend to the Princetonian and the King, the Princeton man, until a few months ago she was a secretary in a Wall Street office.

The girls chatteringly remind you that Miss Romaine was wooed for about a year and a half before she agreed to marry. Allan has been ready for the wedding for at least a year ago, they say, but she encouraged him to stay in school and talk things over with his parents.

As for Mrs. Carlisle, she would have you know that she married Allan and not his millions.

JOTTINGS FROM BERLIN
To the Editor of The Dixon Evening Telegraph:

The package containing a number of copies of The Evening Telegraph reached me safely this morning. I shall take pleasure in distributing them among the American students in the Berlin university. They will be interested to read about the kidnaped baby of Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh and in seeing the many fine illustrations, especially the interesting picture of President von Hindenburg and his grandchildren.

There is a students forum, composed of American and British students, in the Berlin university that hold their meeting every Sunday afternoon in the American church. Interesting lectures are delivered, usually by professors of the university who can speak good English.

FORMER CHAMP OF LINKS WILL TRY COME BACK

Jerome Travers, Now In Need Of Money, Considering

New York, April 15—(AP)—Jerome D. Travers, four-times national amateur champion has decided upon a career as a "business man-golfer."

Forced by economic conditions to sell his seat on the New York Coten Exchange recently, Travers has been considering the possibility of capitalizing upon his skill at golf.

"I have decided to give up my amateur standing and become a business man-golfer," he said in an announcement of his intention.

Travers has been out of active competition since 1919, when he qualified for the national amateur at Oakland since he was eliminated in the first round.

Travers was 20 when he first won the national amateur title in 1907 and challenged the supremacy of Walter J. Travis, the "Old Man." Travers repeated in 1908 and again in 1912 and 1913. His only victory in the National Open game in 1915 at Baltusrol.

Chicago, April 15—(AP)—Jerome D. Travers, golfer "Bobby Jones" twenty years ago, will find the comeback trail a hard one in the opinion of his old rival, Charles (Chick) Evans.

"He will discover, I'm afraid, that golf has changed in the matter of layouts of courses," the veteran Chicago star said after realizing that Travers had decided to return to the game as a business man professional.

"Those traps that have sprung up about the greens and the greater yardage needed will present problems for him that he did not have to consider 20 years ago. He never was much of a driver."

New York, Apr. 15—(AP)—That friendly golfing feud between Joyce Weibull and Glenna Collett Vare may be renewed in the matches at Wentworth, England, British-American international next month.

Announcement in London that Miss Wethered would emerge from competitive retirement to lead the British team makes it possible she will draw Mrs. Vare as an opponent.

For the international matches it seems certain that Miss Wethered will be given the No. 1 singles berth for Great Britain. The American team's No. 1 position seems to be between the national champion, Helen Hicks, and Mrs. Vare.

Chicago, Apr. 15—(AP)—Helen Hicks, National women's golf champion, is swinging a new set of irons with results.

Weariness of the game after a winter of tournaments in the southeast, Miss Hicks decided to leave her club at home in Hewitt, Long Island, and take a rest. She ordered a new set of irons recently and tried them out yesterday with surprising results.

"The rest did me a lot of good and I'm anxious to sock the ball again," she beamed.

Do You Remember?

One Year Ago Today—Sun Beau and Balco, six-year-olds, shared the spotlight at Havre de Grace, each with a victory in the double feature. Sun Beau took the $200 Bayview purse by six lengths, making him third highest money winner of all time with $272,769, while Balco won the $10,000 added Harford handicap.

Five Years Ago Today—Willie Sherdel, southpaw ace of the world champion St. Louis Cardinals, held the Chicago Cubs to two hits but one of them was a home run by Hack Wilson and the Cards lost 1 to 6.

Ten Years Ago Today—The joint basketball rules committee in annual session adopted rules to eliminate the free throw following technical fouls and provided for the ball to be given to the opposition out of bounds at the location of the foul.

Betting Decreased In Bowie Racing

Bowie, Ind., Apr. 15—(AP)—A decrease of $841,275 in the betting during the 11 day spring meet at Bowie track, ending this week, was announced today by the track. The total betting, though, the pari-mutuel machines was $3,776,552.

While the meet officially closed Wednesday a charity day program was held yesterday and $373,700 was wagered, five per cent of which was given to the unemployed. The betting on charity day at the track a year ago this month was $256,673. Yesterday's wagering was not included in the total for the track.

Track officials said that attendance during the spring meet was higher than a year ago, indicating that the public interest in the sport was as keen as ever but that money was scarcer.

Havre de Grace opens a 13 day meet Saturday afternoon.

Five hundred years before the birth of Christ, Greek doctors began to teach health living, and some of the wealthy people gave almost their entire time to diet, exercise and other care of their bodies.

HUSING, RADIO ANNOUNCER, IN BAD WITH UMP'S

Don't Like To Be Second Guesed So They Appeal To Prexy

Chicago, April 15—(AP)—Radio announcer Ted Husing, barred from Harvard's football games last fall because he implied with an adjective that Crimmon's style of play was not up to snuff, today faced an American League investigation prompted by a complaint of two umpires.

The umpires, George Moriarty and William Dinniken, who officiated at the opening game at Washington last Monday voiced formal protest with the league officials yesterday at Husing's reported description of their decisions during the game's broadcast.

President Will Harridge of the League, commenting on the protest, said he would investigate fully and "take whatever action is necessary." "It's a big job umpiring baseball games without someone second-guessing and then blaming the umpire for his mistakes," he added.

The style with which both umpires inform a base runner "You out" was the crux of their complaint. They start with a sweeping gesture of the right arm at the left knee, the hand flat, and end after a wide arc with the thumb jerked over the right shoulder.

Both officials declared they received letters from baseball fans who listened to the broadcast in which Husing announced the base runner safe when the gesture was started, and then informed the radio audience the umpires changed their minds when he saw the runners thumbed "out."

There was no comment from league officials on what effect the alleged incident might have on future major league baseball broadcasts. It is well known the broadcasts are not popular with club owners. At a meeting last fall they voted to permit them this year but expressed themselves in favor of high fees for broadcasting privileges thereafter.

Veteran Jockey Returns To Work

New York, Apr. 15—(AP)—Lavelle (Buddy) Ensor is coming back to ride at the New York tracks that knew him as a great jockey a decade ago.

Suspended in 1922 Ensor was restored to good standing yesterday by the Jockey Club (New York). He may ride at Jamaica tomorrow when the Metropolitan racing season opens.

Women have, on the average, larger feet than their mothers and grandmothers. Size two and one-half, which was fairly common 30 years ago, is not stocked now; the average size today being five.

Hooks and Slides

By WILLIAM BRAUCHER

Five entries have been named for the Derby by Kunnel E. R. Bradley, who's Bubbling Over and Bagebaggage popped in one-two in the Derby of 1928. They are Burgo King, Brother Joe, Bubble Up, Battering Ram and Bertjohn. Two of them are sons of Bubbling Over. They are Battering Ram and Burgo King. But of course, they all can't run.

FIVE INVADERS—Four imported colts and one imported filly may face the barrier. The colts are Border Warrent, Heroville, Old Master and Scotch Gold. The filly is Sekmet, from France.

TREASON—Cornelius V. Whitney, who was greatly disappointed last year when his Good Equipoise was unable to run, will have three in the Derby this year. Top Flight, leading money-winning two-year-old of last year; Clotho, a black half-brother of Twenty Grand, and Mad Frump, a colt by Mad Hatter. It would be this writer's belief that Mad Frump would beat Top Flight if they were taken to the same race.

FITZ STILL ON JOB—Maybe you have been wondering what happened to Sunny Jimmy Fitzsimmons, who trained Gallant Fox for the races two years ago. Well, Jimmy now is training no less than four Derby entries. They are Faltreco, Pardee, Sekhmet and Tetra Kahn. There is one in that big bunch that bears watching. Pardee, a son of Sir Galahad III. Pardee is a half-brother of Gallant Fox.

HE DOTES ON THE GOO—Mark this down. If it is muddy at Churchill Downs on Derby Day the name of the winning horse, ladies and gentlemen, will be Burning Blaze. Louisville operatives decare the old Blaze, who is built along the lines of an ad-erican, could tote a country doctor and a tool kit and beat most of the boys and girls, if the going is pesty.

HERE'S ANOTHER GOOD ONE—Another perfectly good tip is out on a horse named Rowdy Boy. He is being sent to the races by the Waggoners from Texas. Lady Luck owes the Waggoners a break by the way, as most of their racing fortune has been ill.

BUT NO TWENTY GRAND—The Greentree Stable, under whose colors Twenty Grand campaigned last year, has six nominations. They are Byzantine, Jib Boom, Curacao, Pro Bono, Semashore and Twenty. The boys are saying Curacao and Semashore are the best of the lot. These horses are all under the name of Mrs. Payne Whitney.

MORE WHITNEY HORSES—Mrs. Payne Whitney's son, Jock Whitney has no more running under his own name, but three under his wife's. They are Etoetera, Overtime and Stephenfitch.

Jock Whitney is the former Mary Elizabeth Altmus of Philadelphia.

Cool. He's ready now. Watch him. "I think the Cardinals will get Chuck Klein from the Phillies before the season is much over with. Chick Hafey going to the Phillies from the Reds in a three-cornered deal. The Reds can't pay two high-priced fellows like Hafey and Babe Herman."

"That's Herman's a funny hitter. Over-anxious and always going for bad balls. Do you know that Chuck Klein didn't get a hit for 22 straight times against our pitching last year? Fed him curve balls off the handle of his bat. He pops 'em up. Loves to hit outside balls. "Hack Wilson's a cinch to pitch too. Keep 'em low when he stands straight up. When he crouches breeze 'em across his letters. Did you know Chick Hafey had a blind spot even though he led the National League last year? He can't see a fast ball high on the inside corner. He won't hit much this year."

Mastro Announces He's Had Enough

Sacramento, Calif., Apr. 15—(AP)—Earl Mastro, once a leading featherweight title contender, announced he had quit the ring forever after being forced to stop in the ninth round of a ten-round battle with Varias Milling, Los Angeles featherweight last night.

Mastro, drubbed for eight rounds, walked over to Referee Toby Irwin in the middle of the ninth and said: "I've got enough. Give him the fight." He said he had sinus trouble and was threatened by blindness.

"This is the end of Earl Mastro," he said.

Baseball Gossip

By HERBERT W. BARKER

Associated Press Sports Writer

Dan Howley, the sardonically correct manager of the Cincinnati Reds, already is playing in tough luck and the National League season is just three days old.

The Reds' second game of the campaign cost them the services of Ernesto Lombardi, the catcher with the rifle arm and the massive Schnozzola of George II. Grantham, veteran second baseman whose chief baseball virtue is his timely hitting.

Lombardi stopped a foul tip with his right index finger and the broken bone that ensued will keep him on the bench for at least ten days. Grantham twisted his ankle and probably won't play for a week.

But even with these two cogs out for repairs, The Reds punched out a 5-3 decision over the Chicago Cubs yesterday and made it two out of three in the series. They did it by the simple expedient of batting around in the first inning. Doubles by Wally Gilbert and Clyde Manion and triples by Babe Herman and Mickey Heath, plus a hit batsman and a walk, gave the Reds five runs in that frame. Behind that Red Lucas wrought easily, holding the Cubs to eight hits.

In the only other National League struggle of the day, the Pittsburgh Pirates pounded Paul Deringer for 15 hits and trimmed the world champion St. Louis Cardinals, 5-4. The Cardinals bunched hits off Bill Harris for three runs in the fourth inning but Larry French held them virtually helpless thereafter.

In the American League, the St. Louis Browns and Detroit Tigers broke into the winning column for the first time.

Sam Gray allowed only five hits as the Browns turned back the Chicago White Sox, 3-0, the second shutout of the major league season.

Whitlow Wyatt had the better of a pitching duel with Willis Huddin and Detroit defeated Cleveland, 3-1. Wyatt allowed four hits and struck out seven.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

Whitlow Wyatt, Tigers — Held Indians to four hits, fanned seven and won 3-1.

Ed Kacy, Browns — His homer with one on enabled Browns to beat White Sox, 3-0.

Larry French, Pirates — Went in as relief pitcher, held Cardinals to three hits in five innings and won 5-4.

Nowadays when you read your favorite newspaper, and even before the advertisements being broadcast by your radio, you hear some prophets of gloom announcing that the nation's finances are unsatisfactory and throwing scare after scare at an already scared people.

Of course, by this time most everybody knows we are passing through an exceptional period of stress and that much is being done by Congress to remedy the situation, but one is tempted to inquire if everything is being done.

Really what we need instead of more taxes is more business. Railroads don't need loans half as much as they need more business. What the farmers need are better markets and prices for their products. The same goes for the manufacturers and merchants. We need money to circulate that will make business for all and furnish jobs for the unemployed.

Throwing scare after scare at the public ties all business up. The people are so scared that those who have any money are afraid to spend only enough to exist on. No wonder business has reached the bottom.

This country has not gone to the bow-wows, nor will it. It's only a question of time until we start up hill again, and that time will come when we get over our scare. Then people will make enough to pay income taxes to take care of any deficit.

Morals Of Polly Seem Much Better

Chicago, April 15—(AP)—Polly's morals are improving.

It used to be comparatively easy to find a parrot that could send forth a stream of cuss words that would make any respectable safe blower blush, but those days seem to be gone forever.

Pet shop owners give various reasons for Polly's changed vocabulary. Some of them think the radio is at least partly responsible. "It's the influence of the radios" one pet shop owner said yesterday. "They're corrupting the language of our young parrots."

On the other hand the naughty words are disappearing because not so many birds are being bought from sailors, in the opinion of Miss Rose Krueger, another shop owner.

"They are all young and innocent, for the most part."

ROOSEVELT AND HOOVER SWEEP ON TO VICTORY

But Latter Is Facing Determined Foes In His Own Party

Washington, Apr. 15—(AP)—Heedless of the outcries of Republican insurgents and Democratic "bitter-enders," the presidential candidacies of Herbert Hoover and Franklin D. Roosevelt have been rolling relentlessly on this week, making little noise, but gathering in the delegates with deadly precision.

With three more states added to his list of actually-selected delegates, Roosevelt now has roughly one-third of the number needed to nominate. Another one-third, roughly, seems fairly assured by convention time. For the remaining one-third he will have to fight.

Hoover is approaching, in actuality, one-third of the delegates, the simple convention majority he needs. No new opposition has arisen, and none is in prospect. He will not have to fight at any stage. His insurgent opposition has almost stopped protesting, and most of it will either stay away from the convention or sit in a corner and keep quiet.

See Desperate Struggle

But not Roosevelt's opposition. Now that the battle-smoke of Wednesday's Democratic "harmony" meeting in Washington is clearing away, it appears the Democratic plim will be kept dangling until the very last minute: Roosevelt will be so close to it that he can almost pick it off at once, but it will take a desperate struggle to keep it out of his grasp.

Two bombshells have landed within the past few days in the pathway of the Roosevelt advance, but it does not yet appear whether they are duds.

"Al" Smith's slashing attack at the Democratic banquet here disclosed at last his opposition to Roosevelt "to the bitter end" but it cast no light on the number and identity of the troops that may be counted on to stand at the last ditch.

Smith has no delegates instructed for him — the one from Wisconsin which had been credited to him was eliminated by the official count. It has been assumed New Jersey, Louisiana and Delaware, with 58 votes, would be irreconcilably anti-Roosevelt. Where will the others come from, to make up a veto block of 385?

Some Possibilities

There are several places they might come from—or might not. More than 250 will be locked up, temporarily at least, behind favorite sons. No one knows how any of these delegations will perform when the pressure is put on. Then New York state has 94, and possession of them may easily bring on a tug of war. Seven or eight other states may fairly be classed as doubtful. Three of these, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and California, have a total of 156 delegates.

Considering all of these possible sources, the effect of Smith's deft is to center attention sharply on the Pennsylvania and Massachusetts primaries, both to be held April 26. If Roosevelt sweeps these states, it is entirely possible the "bitter-end" battalion will dissolve before it ever goes into action.

Albany, N. Y., Apr. 15—(AP)—The Democratic state committee was ready today to name New York's delegates at large to the national convention as soon as John W. Davis and Alfred E. Smith indicated whether or not they wished to be included in the slate.

AMUSEMENTS TO BE DISCUSSED AT CANTRELL MEET

Evangelist To Deliver An Unusual Sermon This Evening

"Before I was converted," said Grady Cantrell last night as he opened his sermon upon courage at the tabernacle. "I thought I had to have what the boys call a bracer to settle my nerves before I undertook an important job. So I used to slip into a bar-room, or go out in back of the barn and gurgie a nip from a bottle. I actually thought I needed it. I also used to smoke cigarettes incessantly. I had to have a whiff a hundred times a day. I thought I had to have it to settle my nerves. When I was converted, I decided cigarettes and preaching did not go well together. So I cut out the cigarettes and the booze, instead of the preaching, and now I am healthier than I ever was and never feel the need of these things."

"Every Christian needs a bracer. Here it is in the first chapter of Joshua. 'Only be strong and very courageous—thou shalt overcome thou goest.' God was preparing Israel to cross over and possess the Promised land. He said, 'Every place that the sole of your foot shall tread upon, to you have I given it.' God gave them the land, but you see they could not take it till they placed their feet upon it. God will give you anything you want provided you are willing to possess it—to put your foot on it."

Dick Choate favored the audience last night with a xylophone solo. Ray Harris greatly pleased the large crowd by singing a Negro melody, "Climbin' Up the Golden Stairs."

"Amusements" Tonight
Tonight the evangelist has announced that he will preach upon the amusement problem—dancing, card-playing, booze and all the rest. The largest crowd of the week is expected to attend tonight to hear this sermon. He promises to handle the subject in an unusual way. He probably will, as he handles all his subjects in a most unusual way.

The Sunday afternoon meeting will be for women only. At the evening service, the evangelist has announced as his subject, "How You Can Get Anything You Want From Marbles to Millions." One of the surprise features of the revival has been the large audiences that assemble in the tabernacle on Saturday nights. Usually Saturday night is not regarded as a good night for a revival service, but not so in this revival. The Saturday night crowds have appeared favorably with the other nights of the week. The young people will meet at the Christian church tonight at 6:45 for their special work under Mr. Choate. They will not have a meeting Saturday evening but on Sunday they will meet at 6:00. The children meet at the tabernacle at 4:15 this afternoon and at 10:00 tomorrow morning for practice under direction of Ray Harris.

"Courage" Last Eve
The evangelist's sermon last night upon "Courage" was illustrated profusely from Bible incidents and many from history. Rev. Cantrell has his own effective method of dramatizing Bible narratives and dressing them up in modern settings. His ready wit and keen sense of humor keep his audience in high spirits a good part of the time, but he never fails to drive home the truth he is illustrating. Following is his last night's sermon.

"We need courage. Pure old undiluted—er—intestinal fortitude. God wants sinners. Blessing Pullers, Sky Openers, Devil Chasers, Hell Hunters, Christians, with a backbone as big as a telephone pole.

Old Elijahs courage drained Israel wide open and drenched the faith. Christians need courage today as never before. Not so much, these days, to pull men out of the gutter, to tear men away from the clutches of the Demon Rum. But to tear down the great God of Materialism.

"Science never created anything—only discovered. Science discovered America, electricity, serum for typhoid—but God created it! We need the courage that comes from the power of Gods Holy Spirit. On yea Infidels laugh and sneer at Christians deriving same old crowd will eat a stick of poison from the Holy Spirit but the bologna and claim they get the strength thereby. They do and so do we."

"It takes courage to fight in the armor of God. Joshua won a war and never fired a shot. When Israel relied on God she always won. Abraham placing his great hands on the shoulders of Lot said 'let there be no strife between us' Abe got the dirty end—Lot took the choice pastures but see what God did for Abraham."

"Chinese Gordon, altho a soldier, built up Christ's Kingdom in China as no other man because he had courage to walk with God. When John of Abyssinia had entrenched himself behind his cruelties until he was impregnable. The commanding officer knew not where to turn, the name of Chinese."

"Gordon was suggested. When called he refused to go with troops. He went alone. His death was predicted by all. Walking into the presence of King John unarmed. That cruel monster, seated upon his throne, pointed to a stool at his feet. Gordon seized the stool saying, 'as he placed it upon my throne, I come not as a servant but as an equal.' John glared his hate and growled his venom. 'I have the power to cut out your tongue, burn out your eyes, tear out your heart?' 'Yes,' replied Gordon, 'but I am a Christian, I cannot take my own life, but if you take it I will go to a far better place than this.' He gained a bloodless victory in the armor of God. It took the courage that comes from the power of the Holy Spirit."

"Some one says we haven't enough people to make an impression. Jesus said 'where a few are gathered together in my name there I will be also.' Where Jesus is there is power. 'For it's not by might, nor by power, but by my spirit, saith the Lord of Hosts.' Look at Gideon and his army. It's not the big crowd that gives us the courage to put on a great revival. It's the small bunch that are more concerned about saving a soul than anything else on earth."

Gideon's Three Hundred
"In the seventh chapter of Judges we find that Gideon on the march with his great army of 32,000 men. Tramp! Tramp! Tramp! When God leans over the Battlements of Heaven and asks where he is going with all those men, Gideon replies, as he proudly looks them over, 'to lick the Midianites.' Then said the Lord, 'Why Gideon, if I gave a victory to that bunch they never would get over bragging about what they did. And besides there are so many cowards among them, they will get in each others road running away when they get into a real battle. Why that bunch couldn't lick an all day sucker. No Gideon, go tell 'em what they are up against and give the 'fearful and afraid' the privilege to go home under cover of darkness."

"Gideon got up—took his text and out loose. 'Well boys I promised you brass buttons, a swell uniform, a big picnic and a good time but it's going to be work, sacrifice and self denial—as many as want can turn back—beat it for home."

"Well, twenty-two thousand took advantage of this offer, packed their grip and called a taxi and when Gideon started out with the remaining ten thousand the Lord said, 'Well, that's pretty good, but there are still a lot who wanted to go but where such cowards they were afraid of the ridicule. Some are going simply for the honor and notoriety to be gained some out of curiosity. How to get rid of them will be easy. See that stream of water? When you get there they will be hot and thirsty, and the ones who are thinking more about themselves, the desert sires of the flesh—will stop, get down on their knees and drink their fill, regardless of the fact that it will unfit them for effective work. But the bunch that speed down to the river's edge, hastily dip a handful of their mouth and 'lappeth the water with his tongue as a dog' they are the ones to bring victory to My Cause, for they are not thinking of self, but their whole life and thought is to do My Will."

Well Gideon obeyed God and nine thousand seven hundred men stopped to gratify the desires of the flesh, and make themselves sick with over-indulgence. But with the remaining three hundred men, who had no desire but to serve God, at all cost, Gideon marched to victory and licked an army of "about a hundred and thirty-five thousand" before sunrise."

The Midianites melted before the three hundred like the winter's snow before the rays of a summer sun.

"Think what we can do if we 'BE STRONG AND OF GOOD COURAGE.' 'God says 'Leviticus 26:8 five hundred shall put ten thousand to flight.' Tennyson puts these words in the mouth of Sir Galahad. 'My strength is as the strength of ten men because my heart is pure.' 'You'll have to have patience. It takes time and courage to do the Lord's work."

"You cannot have a revival or build a church in fifteen minutes. 'Abraham was a hundred years old before the opportunity came for him to engrave his name on the pages of history."

"Moses was eighty before he even got his name in the local column of an Egyptian newspaper. 'Jesus prepared thirty years for a ministry of three years and a half."

"Don't be afraid of the jeers of that old godforsaken bunch of the damned. Have the courage to stand out for God like Joshua. When the Lord told him to take Jericho by marching around it and shouting the horn, he didn't giggle and look silly. No sir. He fell out of bed, washed his face and obeyed. And when that bunch sneered and said 'old Josh is joshing us' do you think that stopped him. I should say not, he wound up his alarm clock as usual. 'So when a bunch of scissor billys and josh you about Sunday school, prayer meeting, etc. wink at 'em and go anyhow. You can develop a strong character, but it takes courage."

Character
"Your character is like a chain. Broken at the weakest spot. Watch your weak spots."

"Don't be like the guy that had drunk enough booze to float a Mississippi river steamboat, who took the pledge and when a drink was offered said as he raised it to his lips, 'I know a thousand reasons why I shouldn't take a drink, but I can't think of a one right now.' Gurgie, gurgie, gurgie."

The Courage of David
"Look at the courage of David! He was only about fifteen or sixteen when the 'big war' broke out with the Philistines. All the young men enlisted so they could get a uniform and make a hit with the girls. But David said was too young. He had to stay home and slop the hogs and hoe the corn. Well one day David's three brothers were out to war and their pa was getting worried. He said, here David, crank up the car and take this lunch to your brothers and see how they are getting along."

"Well, David was just a kid about 15, he started out. There stood the whole Israelitish army: Old King Saul and his three brothers shaking like they had the ague."

"What's wrong, anyway? What are you shaking for, the drinks?" "Look, look there, they blubbed, and what do you suppose David saw; old Goliath, a big boob eleven feet tall defying the whole army."

"Well, why don't you go trim him up? What! you're not scared, are you? Say, that big bully can't abuse my God and get away with it, not by a long shot. I don't give a whoop how big he is."

"Now David was a little fellow

BURNS, FAMOUS DETECTIVE, DIES SUDDENLY IN FLA.

A Heart Attack Suffered After Party Is Fatal Last Eve

Sarasota, Fla., April 15 (AP)—William J. Burns, the detective, is dead.

The 72-year-old founder of the Burns Detective Agency was the victim of a heart attack at his winter home here last night. A few hours earlier, apparently in the best of health, he had assisted his family in the entertainment of guests.

He was stricken shortly after they left and died without regaining consciousness.

Friends said funeral services would be held here and the body probably placed in a vault for removal to New York for burial later in the spring. The widow and four children survive.

William John Burns' career was the realization of a boyhood dream to be a great detective. He gave up the merchant tailor trade of his father in 1875 to enter the business of crime detection.

The detective was born in Baltimore but his firm moved with him to Columbus, O., where he spent most of his early life. His father, William Burns, served as Police Commissioner of Columbus the first time.

One of the big cases of the detective's career was the solution of the Ohio tally sheets fraud by which a group sought to place a Senator in office. He entered the Secret Service when 28 years old and in 1896 gained national recognition by solving the "Costa Rican" case in which a group of Central American revolutionists tried to discredit their country and raise funds by counterfeiting in the United States.

Counterfeited cases were almost a hobby with Burns and he gave up the smashing of the Bill Brockway gang of currency forgers in Philadelphia. Burns resigned from the Secret Service in 1903 and took charge of and Saul a big man, and he tried to put his armor on David, but it fit about like a saddle on a cow. So David went unarmored and shook his fist in the face of Old Goliath—You can't defy my God, you big bum, and get away with it."

"I'll crush your bones," roared old Goliath, "and feed your body to the birds of the air and the beasts of the field." David looked at him a minute and said, "Aw shucks, you big gas bag, can it, you come in the army of the flesh, but I come in the name of the Lord of Hosts, and David swung his sling-shot and tapped him on the noddle and called the undertaker."

western land fraud investigations in Oregon, Washington and California, for the Department of the Interior. He worked on graft cases in San Francisco, Atlantic City and Detroit and took part in outstanding murder investigations in several larger cities, among them the slaying of Herman Rosenthal, New York gambler.

As Chief of the Bureau of Investigation for the Department of Justice, he became involved in repercussions from the Teapot Dome Oil preserve graft trials and the Harding administration. He was closely associated with Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty from 1921 to 1924 and regarded as his greatest achievement, the organization of the first nation-wide Bureau of Identification at that time.

Since retirement from government service and his private agency, he had been engaged in writing magazine stories about his biggest cases.

HOW HE GOT START
Columbus, O., Apr. 15 (AP)—Out of a young tailor's criticism of police methods of the eighties grew one of America's greatest police figures.

The figure was that of William J. Burns who died last night at Sarasota, Fla., and whose career had its inception in the unimaginative environs of a cutter's bench.

A half a century ago Burns followed the business of a merchant tailor in his father's shop here. Part of his work was to cut and measure the uniforms of Columbus policemen. Through contact with his police customers he quickly adopted the habit of interesting himself in their work.

"The detectives" Burns said many years later in explaining his entrance into detective work "seemed to be rather deficient in vision. Naturally, I acquired the habit of making suggestions. Before I realized it, I was consulting detective of the Columbus Police Department, without any pay, but all the while getting something of a local reputation."

"I thought right along, during my amateur performances, that if detectives would apply common sense to their work, results probably would follow."

His First Case
John E. Murphy, then Chief of Police, gave young Burns his big chance when he was 22 years old. It was a murder case—of no particular importance now—but it had offered tough sledding for the regulars.

Burns, the neophyte jumped into the hunt and one week later came in with his man and a signed confession.

The tailor's cutter had emerged from his cocoon of coats and vests and was ready to try his wings on big game. The subsequent successful fifty years in "big time" answer for themselves.

Burns held the unique record of never having lost an important case, never having shot a man in making an arrest, and of never being shot himself.

"A detective with a pistol in his hand is a foolish fellow," he remarked once.

His Favorite Job

His most spectacular piece of work, in his own estimation during the early years of his career, was in connection with a Philadelphia and Lancaster counterfeiting ring.

In that case, requiring sixteen months of labor, he trapped the two master engravers, sent them to Atlanta penitentiary, and wrecked an almost perfectly executed plan to place millions of dollars of bogus currency into circulation in the form of $100 Monroe head silver Treasury certificates.

He was firm believed in publicity and made numerous and effective uses of this powerful weapon to "scare out" his quarry.

His work was based on a steadfast belief in the integrity of human nature, and his keen and wise understanding of the humanities is evidenced in his saying:

"Even bad men want good government—if they are not making money out of bad government."

A BOOK A DAY

BY BRUCE CATTON

Nothing in the world's history probably, has scared as many people quite as horribly as has leprosy. From the earliest times until very recently, people were too frightened even to treat the unfortunate lepers with common decency. The leper was condemned to a living death; in the middle ages, indeed, the church formally pronounced him dead, and his property was disposed of just as if he had actually died.

Things are far better today. On Molokai, in the Hawaiian, there is the world's finest leper settlement. There lepers can get the care, the surroundings and the comfort they are entitled to.

This is so very largely because of the heroism and self-sacrifice of two men—the famous Father Damien, who gave his life to alleviate the leper's plight and Brother Joseph Dutton, who took up the work on Father Damien's death.

The life stories of these two men are described in "The Samaritans of Molokai" by Charles J. Dutton. It is an absorbing and an inspiring book.

Father Damien, a priest, went to Molokai upwards of 50 years ago, contracted leprosy, and died there. Brother Dutton, a Civil War veteran, went out just before Father Damien died and stuck on the job for half a century.

The author tells their stories very well. He refutes the calumnies that sectarian jealousy circulated about them and presents a picture of selfless courage and devotion that is tremendously heartening; yet he does not try to gloss over the human frailties of the two men or to idealize them.

The skin of a human is about ten times thicker on the palms of the hands and the soles of the feet than it is on the eyelids.

NORTH CAROLINA, KANSAS ARE ONLY STATES' VOTE DRY

Nevada Is Wettest With 7 to 1 Against Prohibition

North Carolina joins Kansas in voting an outright majority for continuance of the eighteenth amendment in the final returns of the Literary Digest's nationwide prohibition poll as announced in to-morrow's issue of the magazine.

North Carolina goes bone dry by a majority of 61 votes out of 61,463 reported returns from the "Tar Heel" state and, in Kansas, the drys have a lead of 273 votes from a total of 77,878 polled.

A total of 4,329,416 ballots are reported in the semi-final returns of which 1,137,287, or 26.27 per cent, vote for continuance of the prohibition amendment and 3,192,129, or 73.73 per cent register their sentiments in favor of repeal.

The dry vote shows a seventh consecutive gain during the poll rising from 15.85 per cent of the total vote of the initial returns in this "straw" referendum.

Nevada casts a vote of over 7 to 1 wet.

The returns from Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York and New Jersey show a majority of over 5 to 1 for repeal in each of these states.

Illinois, Louisiana and Montana each show a sentiment of more than 4 to 1 wet.

Nine other states are voting better than 3 to 1 for repeal of the eighteenth amendment and 14 more states show a vote of 2 to 1 or more wet making a total of 82 out of the 48 states in which the wet vote is more than double the dry vote.

The District of Columbia is polling a vote for repeal of more than 3 to 1 over that for continuance.

The geographical section showing the heaviest wet vote is the Middle Atlantic states of New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania which show a combined percentage of 80.73 for repeal and the driest section of states is the East South Central group of Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama, and Mississippi where the combined dry vote is 40.77 per cent of the total for the four states.

The states nearest approximating a dry majority include Tennessee with 48.39 per cent of its ballots for continuance; Arkansas with 47.54 per cent for continuance; and Oklahoma with 45.23 per cent of its total vote dry.

Newspaper check-up polls conducted independently in several sections of the country show a close parallel of The Literary Digest returns in each given locality, the magazine announces.

"Once more out of a clear sky," The Literary Digest will state in its issue tomorrow, "emerges a sudden testimonial of facts to vindicate the 20,000,000 ballot referendum."

"Facts all the more impressive because not always, perhaps, from approving sources.

"In some cases, for instance, they have been gathered by newspapers in politically dry territory incredulous of The Literary Digest wet totals.

"Local polls, launched by such newspapers in different parts of the country, have been going on for days, some for weeks, but results to date have been a striking corroboration of our poll figures.

"In no case has a local poll uncovered a dry majority where The Digest sets down a wet one. All are wet so far and the degrees of wetness correspond remarkably with those indicated in The Digest's tabulations.

"In some cases a local poll runs a trifle less wet than our poll—3 or 6 per cent.

"On the other hand at Richmond, Virginia, the local poll at this writing is about 12 per cent wetter than The Digest's figures."

The ninth report in the 1930 Literary Digest poll giving three options on the ballot instead of two showed a total tabulation of 4,562,761 votes of which 1,386,216, or 30.38 per cent were for strict enforcement while 1,340,441, or 29.34 per cent voted for modification to admit light wines and beers and 1,836,104, or 40.24 per cent registered in favor of an outright repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

CEREAL RELIEVED HIS CONSTIPATION

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Brought New Health

Every one who has suffered from constipation should read Mr. P. M. Fisher's letter:

"For many years I suffered from constipation and used, for relief, all kinds of laxatives. After a few days' treatment, I would only find my condition the same as before and at times worse.

"Some time ago I started to use Kellogg's ALL-BRAN regularly, once a day as directed. Since doing this, I have found that I do not need any other medicine to procure the desired result, and it keeps me in a very healthy condition."

Mr. P. M. Fisher, 322 Evergreen Place, Ridgewood, N. J.

Constipation is caused by lack of two things in the diet: "Bulk" to exercise the intestines; Vitamin B to tone the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN supplies both—and also iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in lettuce. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently clears out the wastes.

How much safer this is than taking pills and drugs—so often harmful. Just eat two tablespoons daily—in serious cases, with every meal. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved in this way, see your doctor.

Equally tasty as a cereal, or used in cooking. Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

RADIO RIALTO

Many readers of the Telegraph may be interested to know that Mel Trotter is preaching in Chicago at the noon day services, this week. These services are held each day except Saturday and Sunday and are broadcast from station WMBI, the Moody Bible Institute station.

Mel Trotter was born in Orangeville and raised in Polo, in a drunkard's home. He, too, was a drunkard but was converted at the age of twenty-seven, in the Pacific Garden Mission in Chicago, and has been preaching ever since.

Tune in at 12:00 o'clock, noon. These evangelistic services have been going on since a year ago last January, held in a theater in the loop, sponsored by the Christian Business Men's committee of Chicago and are supported by voluntary gifts.

Daily Health Talk

"Before a building is constructed it became necessary to survey the ground upon which it is erected. Boundaries and limitations are thus established. With the engineer, stakes are used to define lines. With the nature's mouth construction job the first permanent molars are employed for this purpose. The prime importance of these teeth becomes at once evident. Nevertheless, there is more ignorance regarding their value and their care than about any other tooth in the head," said Dr. L. W. Neber, Superintendent of the State Health Department's dental section today.

"Few parents pay any attention to these molars when they appear in the fifth or sixth year of a child's life. Consequently, they are subjected to neglect. Disease conditions and extractions very frequently follow—a real calamity indeed!"

"It must be understood that these permanent molars are four in number. Arriving before the baby teeth have been shed, and erupting behind the temporary molars, they are designed to fulfill a dual purpose. First, they act as boundary marks for the subsequent development of the new teeth; and second, they are to be used as efficient grinders of food for the balance of one's life."

"From the boundary standpoint, the loss of these teeth removes an essential control for the proper formation of the completed jaw. In fact, the premature loss of these guides frequently results in permitting the adjacent teeth to encroach upon the space thus vacated. The outcome is that the entire tooth plan is disrupted. Improper position of many of the permanent teeth results, and to this must be added its direct consequences—impaired jaw action and the tendency thus to cause injury to the tissues surrounding the roots of the teeth. Moreover, this tissue injury often results in pus pockets, loosening of the teeth and in bleeding gums."

"It therefore can safely be said that the value and importance of the first permanent molars can not be over-estimated. Properly to identify them may call for professional advice. The main thing, however, is to recognize their presence; and thus give to them all the homecare which is their due. Preserve the first permanent molars. No greater dental obligation on the part of the parent toward the child exists."

SPINAL CURVATURES
Old King Canute's command to the rising tide to recede was only a little more futile than a command to the child to stand up straight and to assume a normal and graceful posture.

The position of the child like the rising of the tide, is in obedience to physical forces not effectively opposed by the tone of authority.

A good deal of study in recent years has been devoted to the problem of curvatures of the spine for this condition has been found widely prevalent among school children, with many far-reaching effects on health and efficiency. The posture of the individual is the resultant of an interplay of pulls and stresses of many muscles on the flexible spinal column and on its more rigid attachments.

The muscles of the trunk, like those of the extremities and other parts of the body, fall into two major groups, each antagonistic to the other.

The position of individual parts of the skeletal system as well as of the body as a whole is influenced by these opposing sets of muscles.

As a result, if, as in the hand of the average person, the fingers are held bent in toward the palm instead of rigidly straight, the position is a resultant of the greater pull of what are known as the flexor muscles, against the opposing set of muscles, the extensors. What is true of the position of the fingers is in a large measure true of the position of the chest, the head, the shoulder blades, the feet and other parts of the body.

Each position is the expression of a difference in the tensions applied to the skeletal system and opposing and antagonistic sets of muscles.

If the position is to be altered, it must be done through physical forces.

Thus, one could alter the position of one's fingers in a state of relaxation by developing the extensor muscles.

Cook County Liberals Organize Machines For Wet Planks

Chicago, April 15.—(AP)—As talk of postponing the Republican state convention made the rounds of political circles here, a group of 20 newly-elected Chicago committeemen already has staged an informal "caucus" and agreed to act as a unit on a "wet" party program.

The 20 Republicans, representing west and northwest wards, met last night and pledged themselves under the reported direction of George F. Barrett, of the 21st ward to back "liberal" delegates to the G. O. P. convention at Springfield.

Both Cook county Republican Chairman Bernard W. Snow and State Chairman C. J. Doyle have expressed belief the state convention would adjourn until May after convening Monday as requested by law. Snow said it was likely the date of reassembling would be May 22 and Doyle suggested May 20.

Slowly increasing returns and resultant expectations that Election commissioners would not be able to certify the nominees and the party leaders elected in the primary gave rise to consideration of the postponement.

Organize Machines
There was little delay manifest, however in the manner in which the fourth Republican county district set about organizing its machine. The suburbs of Cicero, Lyons and Berwyn sent their 135 precinct committeemen to what was believed the first such meeting in the state last night and they picked Edward G. Kovalinka as their central committeeman.

As for the Democrats there was no indication of postponement from their camp. It was considered possible they would hold their state convention a week from today to select the delegates-at-large to the national convention and dispose of other party matters.

As the election returns continued to dribble in from scattered precincts, the latest available tabulations from 6,418 of the state's 7,229 precincts gave the Republican gubernatorial nominee, Len Small, a plurality of 69,498 votes over Omer N. Custer, his nearest opponent. The tabulation gave:

ESTIMATED EXPENDITURES FOR VETERANS' RELIEF THIS YEAR

By NEA Service—

Five and a half billion dollars already expended for the relief of World War veterans—$2,000 a minute still being paid, and the cost still going up, 12 years after the armistice.

All in addition to bonus certificates for adjusted compensation to the face value of $3,638,620,000, or a grand total of approximately nine billion dollars.

That is the balance sheet that Uncle Sam faces today as the soldier bonus issue is revived in Congress with a plan by Representative Wright, Patman, Texas, to issue $2,000,000,000 in new currency to effect immediate payment of remaining outstanding bonus certificates.

This graphic chart shows at a glance the record of what has been spent in the past and what is being spent today.

The $5,000,000,000 already expended——Is about equal to the value of ALL of Europe's war debts to the United States, with future interest discounted at 5 per cent.

—If distributed equally, today, would provide $45 for every man, woman and child in the United States.

—It is MORE than all the gold mined in the world since the war, and just about equal the value of all the gold in the United States today.

RAWLEIGH, COE WIN DELEGATES CONTEST TUES.

Ralph Eaton, Carroll's State's Attorney, Is Eliminated

Unofficial returns from the six counties in the thirteenth congressional district show William T. Rawleigh of Freeport and Glenn Coe of Dixon are the winners of the nominations as the two delegates to the Republican national nominating convention in Chicago in June. Ralph M. Eaton, state's attorney in Carroll county, was the third candidate.

Mr. Rawleigh leads with 15,363. Coe received 11,120 and Eaton got 9875. The unofficial count of the three candidates by counties is as follows:

follows:	Rawleigh	Eaton	Co
Lee	1776	907	364
Whiteside	2789	2056	287
Stephenson ...	38499	2072	143
Ogle	2818	910	161
Carroll	1595	2287	96
Jo Daviess	1527	1643	58

Totals15,363 9,875 11,120
Dana P. Munn of Sterling was the only candidate whose name was printed on the ballot for alternates to the national nominating convention, two of whom are to be named.

Names of many candidates for the second alternate were written in by voters and the reports of the official canvass in each of the six counties will be necessary to determine who is the second man.

It appears that A. G. Harris of Dixon will be the second alternate. His name was written in by about 25 Whiteside and Lee county voters, and reports of other counties in the district have not indicated any concerted move in them to elect an alternate.

Democratic Delegates
The two Democratic delegates from the district nominating convention will be Frank T. Sheehan of Galena and John B. Hayes of Rochelle. Although the vote of only four of the six counties was available today it was sufficient to assure the election of Sheehan and Hayes, the former receiving a total of 2422 and the latter 1295 in the four counties. A. A. Bentley of Fulton, the third candidate, received 1162, but one of the two missing counties is Carroll, the home of Hayes, which no doubt will give him a vote which will increase his lead for second place.

Elwyn R. Shaw of Freeport and George Frun of Dixon, the only two candidates for the alternate posts, were elected without opposition.

Allen's Majority
While the official canvassed vote has been completed in but three of the six counties of the thirteenth district, the complete unofficial figures from the other three counties assure the nomination of Leo E. Allen of Galena over William R.
